Questions 14 - 18

For each question, choose the correct answer.

A FORGOTTEN TALENT

Sixto Diaz Rodriguez is an American folk singer from Detroit, Michigan, who only recently has become world famous. He is more than 70 years old now. He made some records 40 years ago but they did not sell in America. He tried to do some concerts around the world but was not very successful. He stopped dreaming and worked for years as a manual labourer.

He still liked music as a hobby and played in bars and wrote some songs for his friends. He remained poor. In all this time, he didn't know that he became very famous, particularly in South Africa. His fans thought he was dead so nobody contacted him. So, did he win America's Got Talent? No, he didn't.

The story is strange. In 2012 a documentary about him called Searching for Sugar Man – by a Swedish director – won an Oscar and now finally he has found fame in America too. He is getting lots of money but what does he do? He gives most of it to other people! Rodriguez still lives in the same small Detroit house. He hasn't got a car, a computer or even a television.

His daughter Regan forced him to get a mobile phone a few years ago because she could never find him. He remains a quiet, modest man.

14 Sixto Diaz Rodriguez

A has always been famous.

B is famous in Detroit.

C is starting to become famous.

15 His first records

B sold a lot of copies.

C were an immediate success.

16 Sixto Diaz Rodriguez

A knew he had fans in South Africa.

B took part in a talent show.

C didn't know people were playing and listening to his music.

17 When a Swedish director made a documentary about him, Sixto

A went to live in Sweden.

B became rich.

C bought a new car.

18 Sixto's daughter

A bought him a car.

B bought him a television.

C insisted he bought a mobile phone.
